FRANK TOAL.

ON TRIAL FOR SLASHING HIS WIFE WITH A KNIFE.

The witnesses for the prosecution evidently terrorized and desisted of shielding the culprit—A Strong Case Nevertheless—How Mrs. Toal Looked After the Cutting.

The long-expected trial of Frank Toal, the burly blacksmith who slashed his wife nearly to pieces with a knife April 20th, in this city, began yesterday before Judge McKinley in Department No. 6 of the Superior Court.

It is a very brutal and cruel crime with which he is charged, and this is not the first time he has been on trial for a similar offense.

Several years ago he beat and cut his wife, for which he went to San Quentin for five years. After serving three years in a most exemplary manner, he was pardoned, and he then returned to Los Angeles. His wife began divorce proceedings, but they were finally withdrawn, and the family was reunited.

The circumstances of the cutting of April 20th are still fresh in the memories of all, as well as the remarkable endurance of the poor woman, whose face was almost cut to pieces. Since the preliminary examination Mrs. Toal has become very much calmer, and is testifying against her husband, and tried to run her little son away so that he should not testify against his father. She is evidently very much afraid of her husband, and his actions yesterday clearly demonstrated.

Deputy District Attorney McComas appeared for the prosecution and Horace Bell and W. T. Williams for the defense. Nearly all the morning was spent in securing a jury. Toal sat before the court, his countenance was interested in the selection of jurors. He is bleached by his long confinement in the County Jail, and his face is a brutal one. He is heavy set, his eyes being sunken.

Mrs. Toal was called to the stand. She wore a heavy veil, and her sadly scarred features could scarcely be seen through it. She displayed from the first a most anxious disposition to shield herself, even at the risk of perjury.

"I was at fault myself," were her first words.

Mr. McComas had hard work to get the story of the bloody deed from her, and it came out piecemeal.

"The defendant, Frank Toal, is my husband," she said deprecatingly. "I was living on my ranch inside the city limits, on Elysian Heights, April 20th."

"Never mind that."

"We had a few words in the morning before he went to town. When he came home he called me to help unharness a horse. I told him I was busy, and he got angry and began swearing. I got mad, too. I had a knife and told him if he used any more cross words I would kill him. It was a penknife, and he bought it for me. He got angry and cut me in the face."

"Mrs. Toal removed her veil and revealed her scarred features, and indicated where she was cut in the breast."

The witness unwillingly admitted that Toal knocked her down and dragged her by the hair; that he knelt on her. She said she became senseless and did not know what else he did. She testified that she had testified at the preliminary examination that her husband came in with a knife in his hand and drove her out doors. She said she visited her husband at the County Jail, but that he had not told her how he testified.

The knife, with which the cutting was done, a large-sized penknife, was a long blade, was identified by Mrs. Toal, and submitted to the jury for inspection.

The afternoon session, which began at 2 o'clock, the cross-examination of Mrs. Toal began. Here she showed how anxious she was to shield her husband. It was as follows:

Gross-examined: I married Mr. Toal before the preliminary examination. I had a trouble with him. He is as good a man as ever lived. Mr. Toal came into town that day with the little girl. He was very drunk when he came home. I was a little nervous. I had not been drinking that day. Mr. Toal had objected to my drinking wine.

Mr. McComas: I move to strike that last out.

The witness: I was excited very much. He had a sack of corn in the wagon, and threw it out. He got excited and I got excited, and one cross word brought another. It was my custom to get drunk, and he was with the horse. I was to blame. I had quarreled with him in the morning before he went to town.

"Had you not made threats against him?" asked the cross-examiner.

Objected to, and objection overruled.

The witness: Yes, I started the stove. He had looked up the matches. I told him to get the matches. He said he would not get the matches for fear the boy would burn the table."

Objected to, and objection sustained.

"Who had the knife when you were cut?"

"I had the knife. I was not cut when we were struggling. He struggled for it, and I struggled for it. I was trying to cut him. I told him if he cut me any more names I would cut him. But he was stronger than I. I don't know whether I fell down or not."

"Is your recollection good?"

"When I get excited my recollection is not clear."

"Did any one influence you to prosecute your husband?"

"All my neighbors have tried to get me to prosecute my husband. I would not have prosecuted him unless they had said so."

"Is it not so that you did not want to prosecute him because you felt you were in the wrong?"

The witness: "Partly."

Mr. McComas: "I object to such a question." (Objection sustained.)

"Is it not so that you were kept locked up in the City Jail?"

"I was kept there two days and two nights. Nobody was allowed to see me but my sister-in-law, and there was an officer listening to every word we said."

"Did the officer tell you to prosecute your husband?" (Objection made and sustained.)

"Would you or would you not have prosecuted your husband if it had not been for what your neighbors and the officers told you?" (Objection to and objection sustained.)

The witness: "The cutting was a little ways on the road, up from the schoolhouse. I was running off. He was trying to get me to come back to the house. Well, I was hauled, calling him names. When he overtook me I tried to kill him."

"Was not the reason you felt mad at him, that he had told the Italians not to sell liquor to you?"

"Yes, Mr. Toal notified them in writing. I did not know it till afterward. We quarreled on that day and others about my drinking liquor. It was three weeks that I had no liquor. I told him that as long as he drank

Another Large Fire at Fresno—Meeting of the State Board of Health—Affairs at Santa Ana.

By Telegraph to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—[By the Associated Press.] The Chronicle will say tomorrow that T. S. Sinclair, a prominent citizen of Oakland, is said, and does not deny, to have obtained proof that Florence Blythe, the claimant heiress of the estate of Thomas Blythe, is not the daughter of the dead capitalist; that she was not born in England, but was born in California, and that Blythe never adopted her nor gave her his name. The contest over the Blythe estate, which exceeds $4,000,000 in value, has long been one of the most notable in California, and hitherto the claims of Florence Blythe were considered to be of the strongest.

CARSON AND COLORADO.

Its Annual Report Submitted to the Railroad Commissioners.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—[By the Associated Press.] The annual report of the Carson and Colorado Railway, third division, was received at the Railroad Commissioners' office today. The line is 235 miles long, running from Keeler, Cal., to Mount House, Nev. The line as soon as completed was turned over on a lease to the Carson and Colorado Railway Company, which has thus far operated it at a loss, the earnings not being sufficient to pay expenses. The only consideration in the lease is the payment of all taxes, expenses, and the maintenance of track and rolling stock in good condition.

On July 1, 1898, the property was mortgaged to the Metropolitan Trust Company of New York, and bonds for $1,000,000 were issued under the provisions of the mortgage. The capital stock is 35,000 shares, of a par value of $100, and 15,000 shares were issued to certain contractors for construction and equipment of 105 miles of the road, at the rate of $15,000 a mile. It commences at a point near the California and State line and extends to Keeler, Inyo county, Cal. The total cost of the road up to December 31, 1898, was $1,000,000. The statistics of permanent improvement have been kept by the company because of its lease. No dividends have ever been earned or paid, and no lands are owned by the company in California. The thirteen stockholders in the company.

ACADEMY OF SCIENCES.

Its New Building's Corner-stone Laid at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—The corner stone of the new Academy of Sciences was laid today. Charles F. Crocker was president of the day. Addresses were made by Irving M. Scott and Dr. Harkness, president of the academy.

In brief remarks, Col. Crocker said that for 30 years the academy had been obliged to content itself with its inconvenient quarters on the corner of California and Dupont streets, but that the new building, which the society will soon be in large and comfortable quarters.

In his oration, Irving M. Scott spoke of the history of science and philosophy. He told of mythology and monotheism, of mysticism and Egyptian priests, of the scientific dogmas of the middle ages, and at length upon the discoveries made by scientists in every age.

Dr. H. W. Harkness, president of the academy, gave the history of the academy. He said that a few years ago Charles Crocker gave the academy $30,000 to be used in original research. He said that before he presented for lack of funds. A collection was also presented by Mr. Crocker and Leland Stanford. In 1873 a deed from James Lick to the lot on which the new building will stand was presented to the Academy. As residuary legate it will also receive $50,000 from his estate.

SANTA ANA.

A Watch Thief—Efforts to Resurrect a Newspaper.

SANTA ANA, July 12.—[Special.] George McCarty of Orange took a watch here yesterday from the vest pocket of a carpenter named Warner. He was tracked to Orange, and, after a long chase through fields and orchards, was captured by Marshal Insley of this city last night, and the stolen property found under a clod where the thief had secreted it. McCarty was brought back today. His preliminary examination will be held tomorrow morning. There can be no question as to the theft, and it is said McCarty has admitted it.

Lester Osborne of the Los Angeles Express was here today in company with Sackett Cornell, late editor of the defunct Chronicle, looking over the ground with a view to reviving the paper. He got little encouragement. Cornell's affairs are as much mixed as ever, and he is making no effort apparently to straighten matters up.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Meeting at Sacramento—Various Matters Considered.

SACRAMENTO, July 12.—[By the Associated Press.] The State Board of Health met this afternoon. The secretary read a communication from the private secretary of the Governor, calling attention to a telegram from Gov. Waterman, reporting the shipment of 3000 head of cattle into the State with Texas fever.

MIDSUMMER EXCURSION FROM KANSAS CITY.

Why Southern California Should Be Popular as a Summer Resort—Notes and Personals.

Last evening a big excursion left Kansas City for Los Angeles, and will arrive next Tuesday or Wednesday. During the past few months the railroad people have been working all kinds of schemes back East to convince the mountain tenderfoot that Southern California can show up the finest summer resorts on the face of the globe. People with means enough to vacate their winter homes during the hot season used to think there was only one Italy, and to reach that place of moonlight nights and balmy air they had to cross the Atlantic, or slip down to some sweltering watering place on the Atlantic Coast.

The railroad people have done all in their power to get this absurd idea out of their head, and many of them are beginning to look toward Southern California for their Italy. Last year a summer excursion was almost unheard of. Eastern people generally believe that it is as hot here in the summer as it is in New York, and the railroad men had a mighty hard time of it convincing them that the summer climate is far superior to the winter. By next summer it is believed that the bulk of eastern tourists will come in the spring and early summer months and spend the season. There is no country in the world where people can get sun-bathing in the heat of the day and sleep under a blanket at night outside of Southern California. Los Angeles is within 30 minutes' ride of the finest sun-bathing in the world.

WALLA WALLA, July 12.—This afternoon fire broke out in a Chinese washhouse. The fire extended to Kirk's livery stable and Schwabacher's lime, coal and oil warehouse, all of which were consumed. Karl Schwabacher's warehouse was, with the contents, also destroyed. The total loss is about $5000; insurance, $3000. The conflagration was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

COMMISSIONER KEEFE.

He Seems to Be Over-optimistic All Round.

Everything is not running as smoothly among the Fire Commissioners as it should, and during the past few days there has been a good deal of talk among the members. At the last meeting of the board Commissioner Tom Keefe stated that he had selected three horses at the Chico ranch for the use of the department, which were at Wickersham's corral, and the commissioners went down to inspect them, when they were promptly rejected. This action caused some comment, and the report was started that the horses were spavined, broken down animals and unfit for service, and Commissioner Keefe was rather sharply criticised. To find out the true inwardness of the transaction, a Times reporter yesterday interviewed Commissioner John Lovell, who said that the horses were rejected because they were not good for the work required of them, as they were too young and light, but they were sound, with the exception of a few windfalls. He said Mr. Keefe had bought the horses at $200 each, when $150 would have been an outside price for them, without any authority from the board, which had rejected the animals, and bought another horse. This was all there was to this transaction.

It was also learned that the relations between Chief Strohm and Mr. Keefe were somewhat strained, owing to what the Chief considered the unwarranted interference by the commissioner with his business. It was stated that Mr. Keefe had gone down to the Plaza engine-house and taken possession of the engine, and to try the new engine at that place without getting the Chief's permission or notifying him of what he wanted. The suspension of Engineer Stormer was also said to have been caused by Mr. Keefe's interference, in ordering his engine out when there was no fire, and that the Chief determined to make an example of him.

One or two of the members were asked whether any action would be taken officially by the board in the premises, but said that nothing had been agreed upon. It was probable, however, that the matters would be discussed at the next meeting, when there is likely to be a lively time between the Chief and Mr. Keefe.

A New Railroad to Santa Monica.

Many have not yet got over calling the Los Angeles and Pacific the new railroad to Santa Monica, notwithstanding it has been in operation since February 23d, and has already carried over 15,000 people to Santa Monica since it opened. Many of these are regular patrons of the Los Angeles and Pacific, and the public generally is getting alive to the fact that the trip to Santa Monica over the new line—the Los Angeles and Pacific Railway—means a charming ride through the beautiful foothills in elegantly-appointed coaches, no overcrowding, no emigrant cars, but all first-class velvet plush upholstered coaches, prompt arrivals and departures, and gentlemanly officials to protect the traveling public from the old-time discomforts attending a trip to Santa Monica. On Sunday hacks and carriages are in attendance at the general office, 44 North Spring street, to carry passengers direct to the depot. Extra hacks are engaged for the crowd that will be sure to go tomorrow.

Behind the Scenes.

There was quite a lively little fight behind the scenes on the stage at the Grand Opera-house during the performance of the minstrel company Thursday night. The troupe carries quite a number of young boys with it, who take part in the show, the smallest of whom is the "drum major." The boys got to "sillybarking" while waiting to go on, when one of them threw an old shoe, hitting the "drum major" in the face. This aroused the "kid's" anger, when he rushed up to one of the dressing-rooms and got a loaded revolver, almost as big as himself, with which he came down the steps, swearing vengeance on the boy who had insulted his dignity. He was finally pacified without any blood being shed, and the audience in front enjoyed the regulation show, without knowing how near a tragedy had come to being enacted.

Board of Education.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held at the Superintendent's office yesterday afternoon, with President Pomeroy presiding, and all the members present with the exception of Messrs. Ellis and Powers. The meeting was held for the purpose of getting the bond ordinance in shape for presentation at the next meeting of the Council, and also for making out the estimates of the expenses of the schools for the coming year. It was estimated that the amount needed from the city would be $80,000, exclusive of that received from the State and county.

Mr. Whaling insisted that this was not enough, but he was voted down as usual, and that amount put in the estimates.

Remarks.

(San Bernardino Courier.)

The location of the asylum site is now a question of but a few days. The Governor is in the south, and the commission, having looked into titles and other details, will make the location definitely and formally before the end of the present month. And, when made, our word for it, it will be acceptable to public opinion, to the State officials and to the editorial humanitarianism who are fastidiously nervous lest the location should be one where the atmosphere has a Sacramento warmth. A few days, and you will see.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS.

We have introduced the compound oxygen treatment with our original practice in the treatment of all the various diseases of the lungs, including Consumption, Phthisis, Catarrh, Emphysema, etc., etc. Persons often require more oxygen than is in the air around them, and this is the case with all the various diseases of the lungs. The compound oxygen treatment is the only one that gives relief, and is employed in all female complaints.

On the life-giving principle in the air we breathe, and Oxygen in the air imparts that happy and vigorous feeling after a long day's work. Persons often require more oxygen than is in the air around them, and this is the case with all the various diseases of the lungs. The compound oxygen treatment is the only one that gives relief, and is employed in all female complaints.

Open, tear of collar, loosen the waist, and call for a fan to displace the stuff and bring freer air or more oxygen. Persons often require more oxygen than is in the air around them, and this is the case with all the various diseases of the lungs. Oxygen acts by purifying the blood, clearing the system, and giving the system a new lease of life. The compound oxygen treatment is the only one that gives relief, and is employed in all female complaints.

The London, Eng., Lancet, very truthfully says: "The compound oxygen treatment is the greatest discovery of the nineteenth century. It cures Consumption, Phthisis, Catarrh, Emphysema, etc., etc. Persons often require more oxygen than is in the air around them, and this is the case with all the various diseases of the lungs. The compound oxygen treatment is the only one that gives relief, and is employed in all female complaints."

New York, July 12.—The temper of the stock market underwent a sudden change today from buoyancy to depression, and the result is to leave everything lower than last evening. The market started off well, but quickly struck a snag. The sudden change began with least notice, and it appears, while there has really been no increase in outstanding certificates of the trust, the amount is actually $33,000,000, and surprise over the announcement led to free sales. Holders of lead trust became demoralized, and over 70,000 shares changed hands in the first hour of business. The price quickly dropped from 20 1/2 to 20, at the close. Later in the day sugar trusts became affected, and dropped from 11 1/2 to 10 1/2. The weakness spread to the regular list, and grangers were the leaders in the decline. St. Paul, Atchafalaya, Missouri Pacific and others rapidly declined, and the losses in the regular list ranged up to 3 per cent. The decline with no set-back of importance, and the close was fairly active and decided, with the lowest prices of the day. The most important declines were: Lead 4 1/2, sugar 5 1/2, St. Paul preferred 3, common 3 1/2, cotton oil 2 1/2, Missouri Pacific 2 1/2, Chesapeake and Ohio preferred 2 1/2, Burlington 1 1/2, Chicago gas 1 1/2, Northwestern 1 1/2, Atchafalaya 1 1/2, Union Pacific and Lake Shore 1 1/2, Canada Southern 1 1/2, Northern Pacific preferred and Southern Pacific 1 per cent.
